

CRESCENT PARK

Crescent Park is located across the Allegheny River on the City of Warren's south side. When this land was first surveyed in 1795, it was granted to Revolutionary War General William Irvine. His descendants, Margaret Biddle and Sarah Duncan Irvine Newbold, donated the land to the Borough of Warren in 1902. By 1913, the Daughters of the American Revolution had converted the land to an "ideal pleasure place" for the benefit of the people of Warren. The park abounds with sites honoring the county's history including Heritage Point, Pioneer Fountain, and the mysterious steps to the river built by the Elks Club in 1914. Set amidst the forty-one tree species of the Crescent Park Tree Walk, Crescent Park truly is a place of beauty.

SOLDIERS AND SAILORS PARK

The D.A.R. dedicated Soldiers and Sailors Park on Armistice Day, November 11, 1922, to honor freedom's fallen defenders. The newly-christened park incorporated the 1909 granite monument that honored the brave fallen of the Civil War. To it, the park added the granite Company I Allied Expeditionary Force Memorial that featured 13 columns inset with the names of the 13 men from Company I who were killed in action in France. Additional plaques were dedicated in honor of the Four Flags that have flown over Warren.

Walkable Warren

Walkable Warren is a local initiative intended to promote healthy lifestyles by encouraging foot traffic and bicycling as alternative modes of travel in and around the City of Warren. Warren has a wealth of scenic landscapes, historic architecture, public parks, and trails, all worthy of being showcased and that are best experienced on foot or by bicycle. Recommended routes of travel between the Warren/North Warren Bike/Hike trail, core downtown, and a few of our public parks are marked by Walkable Warren signage along our public streets. We encourage you to step out of the automobile as a source of travel and, instead, experience Walkable Warren on foot or bicycle. Pedestrians please use the sidewalks. Bicyclists must obey all traffic laws.

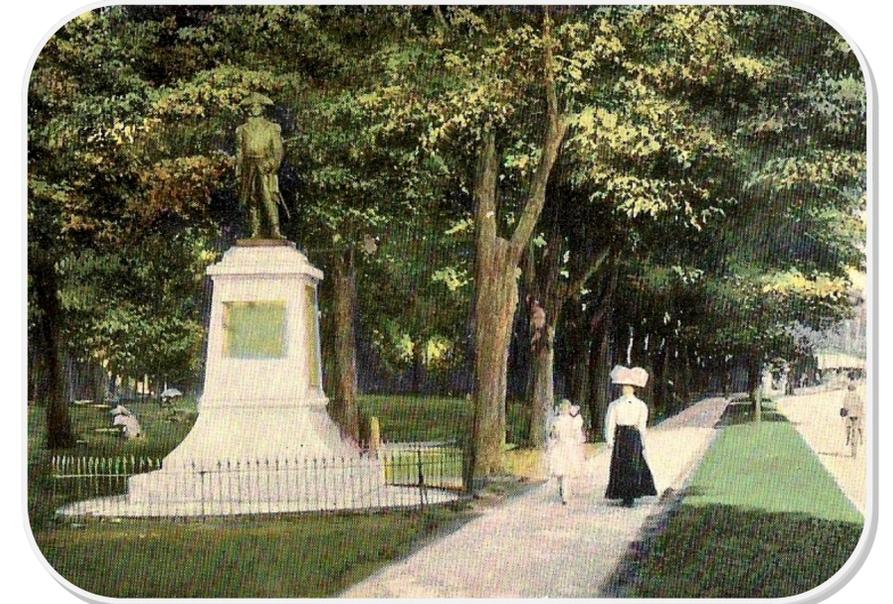

WASHINGTON PARK

On the bicentennial anniversary of George Washington's birth, a group of prominent Warren citizens granted the borough of Warren the land on which Washington Park sits. Consisting of sixty-five acres at the top of Beech Street, this site features expansive views of the Allegheny River at Warren. Upon its dedication by the Daughters of the American Revolution on August 9, 1932, one thousand Norway Spruce and one thousand White Pine trees were planted to form the "bicentennial nucleus" of a new town forest.

Major General Dr. Joseph Warren, III
Portrait by John Singleton Copley, circa 1765
Physician ~ Politician ~ Patriot

Warren, Pennsylvania's namesake, the first hero of the American Revolution, killed at the Battle of Bunker Hill on June 17, 1775.

GENERAL JOSEPH WARREN PARK

On July 4, 1910, Warren residents gathered to dedicate a park in honor of the city's namesake, Revolutionary War General Joseph Warren. The park's 500-pound statue of General Warren was originally presented by the Tidioute Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

On May 9, 2011, the General Joseph Warren D.A.R. Chapter celebrated 100 years with the rededication of the General Joseph Warren Statue. The statue was completely restored and a new sword replaced the one that had been missing for several years.

